The Fort Gansevoort Case-Mandamus Granted Against the Comptroller. SUPREME COURT.

Fig. 24.—At the relation of James B. Taylor vt. Matthew T. Breman, Comptroller.—Motion for a mandamus granted. The Judge has not as yot written any opinion in the case; but the principal ground upon which he grants the motion for a mandamus is that the Comptroller, being a ministerial officer, has no discretion but to obey the directions of the Common Council, and that no more responsibility was vested in him in signing the warrants than there was in the Clerk of the Common Council, whose duty it was to countersign them. The Judge did not pass upon the question of title, as it was the duty of the Corporation Counsel to examine into that matter. If the title was had then the Mayor had the power to refuse his signature.

The case will now be argued before the General Term, and perhaps will go thence to the Court of Appeals. FEB. 24 .- At the relation of James B. Taylor vs. Matthew

ANOTHER APPLICANT FOR RESTORATION.—It is stated that ANOTHER APPLICANT FOR RESTORATION.—It is stated that Rodney Mason, of Ohio, who, as coloned in command at Clarksville, in a most cowardly manner surrendered that point to the enemy, is in Washington, endeavoring to prevail on the President to restore him to the army. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

TURSDAY, Feb. 24-6 P. M. There was another great advance in gold to-day. It opened at 166½, rose to 172, fell back to 169½, rallied to 171¾, sold in the afternoon at 172, ¼ and ¾, and closed 172½ bid. Bankers' bills were sold the morning at 185 and 186; later in the day there were transactions at 187 and 188, and many of the bankers were unwilling to name a rate. No specific cause can be assigned for the sudden adance. In some quarters it was believed that our forces had suffered a disastrous repulse at Vicks-burg. In others it was stated that a party of copheads had given orders for large purchases of gold with a view to affect the legislation of Congress, and to frighten members from passing the f the war. A purchase of half a million, in the present excited state of the market, would probly cause an advance of 4 a 5 per cent, and the thorities at Washington seem so nervous about the rise in gold that it might fairly have been calculated that such an advance would affect their minds to some extent. However this be, the fact is that gold has risen six per cent in a day, and that the cur-rency has apparently depreciated by just so That this depreciation, however, is apparent, not real, must be evident to every one who will study the subject, and it is of national importchandise and kinds of property which are interchangeable for money, gold is the only one which has risen 6 per cent to-day. The same, or nearly the same, quantity of greenbacks which yesterday would have paid for an acre of land, a house, most kinds of good bonds and dividend paying stocks, a barrel of flour, a cargo of wheat, tea, sugar or dry goods, will pay for them to-day. No one objects to take greenbacks; on the contrary, every one complains of their scarcity, and one main reason why Mr. Chase cannot negotiate a loan is because there are not, at the financial centres, enough greenbacks to pay for twenty millions of bonds at any price whatsoever. Had the depreciation of the currency, which appears to result from the advance in gold, been real, as was the case with the continental money and the French assignats, everything would have risen in the ratio of gold, people would have objected to sell their property for greenbacks, the banks would been flooded with them, and it would have been quite impossible to buy with greenbacks, at or near par, such sound lucrative investments as United States sixes, Eric preferred, Michigan Central, Metropolitan Bank stock, Galena or Rock Island. The fact is, the advance in gold is in the main the product of speculation, and the currency depreciation which appears to result from it is fictitious. There are, at the present time, over one hundred individuals who traffic daily in gold on the curbstone in William street and in the? old and the public boards. These individuals own little or no gold, and use little or none in their transactions, though they buy and sell hundreds of thousands of dollars with each other daily. It is easy to see that, such an arena of speculation once opened, the natural tendency of gold to appreciate in consequence of paper issues must be vastly accelerated. These speculators have among them bid up the price of the metal to a figure which it would not have reached in two years had the laws of trade been unassisted. The question suggests itself, should not this vile traffic be suppressed or checked in some way? We have already expressed the opinion of the most experienced men in Wall street, which is, that a suppression of the traffic in gold is impossible, and that an attempt to suppress it by law will only do mischief. A tax of of one per cent on every transaction in gold at the boards or in private; a tax of at least half per cent on loans on gold by banks, bankers or brokers, and an amendment to the Revenue law raising the charge for a broker's license to deal in gold to some 2000 annually, would have a good effect in thinning out the reckless crowd that now gamble in the metal in William street. But further than this experience warns us not to venture. In England during the Napoleonic wars it was made penal to rose at one time to 140. Money was easier to-day, and all the leading bankers marked down their loans to six per cent. Several leading brokers had money left with them at 5 per cent. Commercial paper, which is scarcer than ever, sails at 5 a 6 for choice names. Debt deal in gold. But it was dealt in, nevertheless, and certificates are up % per cent. There was a further general advance in prices to-day at the Stock Exchange, and more indicaof another speculative outburst. At the morning board the United States sixes of 1881 rose 1½ per cent, and the fives of 1874 11/4. State stocks were steady, and bonds were firm. The entire speculative list was better. Pacific Mail rose 3 per cent, New York Central 34. Erie 114. Erie preferred 36. Toledo 1/4, Hudson 1/4, Michigan Central 1/4, South roledo %, Hudson %, anongan Central %, Southern old 1, Illinois 1½, guaranteed %, Pittsburg %, Galena ¼, Rock Island ¾, Fort Wayne ¾, Terre Haute preferred %. Operators are moving cautiously as a rule. Some of the heaviest of the old have been selling out within a day or two, and distributing their stock among newer men. There is a considerable bear interest uncovered, which gives strength to a rising market. At the firm, though large quantities were sold to realize profits. There was no particular change in prices. At the second board the market was firm, and prices were generally rather better. At the four P. M. session of the public board the market was very strong indeed, and everybody seemed anxious to buy stocks. The following were the closing to buy stocks. The following were the closing quotations at half-past five:—

We have had a steady market in Iondon during the past week for American securities, with an active inquiry for United States live per cent bonds and Virginia sizes. In Eric and Illineis shares an important advance has been established, amounting to two and a half dollars per share. In railroad bonds the demand has been principally for Illinois Central and Atlantic and Great Western.
